So sure was he of the purchase that he has already engaged a manager from a big eastern woolen factory to take charge of the mills and get them into operation. The actual purchase of the mills was made by W. Lester Mangum, who did the bidding on behalf of his father-in-law. The only other bidder was Heber J. Grant, who went up to $30,000 in behalf of the Home Fire Insurance company, which has a claim of $20,000 against the Provo Woolen Mills company, and was prepared to go up to $50,000, as Mr. Grant expressed himself this morning, and the state of the second to the second terms of the second terms. if need be, to shut out speculators, but would not bid against anyone who would take the mills in hand and run

The Provo woolen mills, prior to its being closed some five years ago, gave employment to 120 hands and was one of the leading manufacturing plants of the state. The announcement this norming by McC Knight has been re-mained with enthusiasm by the com-munity as Mr. Knight's promise to start operations in the immediate fu-ture means much for Provo residents and merchants.

Jesic Knight was in the city this atemoon and when seen at his hotel said to The News that in buying the Provo Woolen Mills at the auction today he did it with the firm intention day he did it with the firm intention of making the entire project a complete success. "I bought the mills this morning at the auction, or rather my son. William bought them for me. I dent know how soon we will be able to begin operations, maybe in six months, or sooner, or later. It all depends upon getting the plant ready. There is much good machinery in the plant and we don't know just how much new equipment we will need. We are going to enter into active prelimmuch new equipment we will need. We are going to enter into active preliminaries at once, however, and determine these things, then equipping the plant fully. We will open as soon as practicable, and that is about all I can say at this time regarding the future. We enter the proposition determined to make it a success and have every reason to believe that we will be successful."

When Johnson was arrested two weeks ago he demanded trial by a jury which should contain two colored men, but there was none of the latter among but there was none of the latter among the venire men present in Judge Going's court today. BRYAN'S LETTER CREATED A STIR

One to Washington Jefferson Day Banquet Committee Said to Have Been "Unorthodox."

IS DEMOCRATIC THROUGHOUT

Jefferson, World's Great Schoolmaster Taught the Art of True Government.

Washington, April 13.-The letter of William J. Bryan, written from Brazil, and to be read tonight before the Democrats who attend the Jeffersonday banquet here and those at a similar function in Indianapolis-the letter which caused a commotion among the local banquet committeemen at its initlal reading because of what some of them termed its "unorthodox doctrine, is as follows:

"I thank you for the invitation to the Jefferson-day banquet. While I shall not return to the United States in time to attend, I can join with you in spirit the more heartily because o what I have learned by visiting other

"I have seen everywhere the influence exerted by his teachings. In the nation in which I am just now sojourning I find illustration of his idea of conquest. He contended that we should conquer the world with our ideals rather than with our arms, and in this sense, we are effecting a conquest of Brazil. Her constitution is modeled after ours; she has copied from us the federal system of government, which united control of local affairs with national supremacy; her flag, like ours, has a star for each state, and her school system is being made to conform more and more to ours.

"These victories, too, cement friend-ship instead of arousing enmity.

"Hail to Jefferson, the world's school-master, whose views continue their majestic march around the earth.

"But in our country, as well as abroad, his principles are triumphing. He taught that the art of government is the art of being honest, and each new investigation proves the folly of those who refuse to learn of him.

"He was the foe of monopoly in every form, and his name is the one which can, with most propriety, be invoked when the trusts are attacked and when the contest is being waged for the application of the principles of popular government.

"I am so far away from home that nation in which I am just now sojournfor the application of the principles of popular government.

"I am so far away from home that I am not fully informed as to the recent events, but I have just read of one Jeffersonian victory, namely, the selection of an investigating committee by the house instead of by the speaker, and, better still, each party selected its members of the committee. This establishes an important precedent which, if followed, will make investigations real and effective.

which, if followed, will make investigations real and effective.

"I notice, also, that we seem likely to win a victory against the meat trust. Monopoly prices have at last provoked a popular protest, and now that the people are looking for remedy, there is hope that they will accept the Democratic remedy. It is not unnathered as a providing the popular was the boycott. Democratic remedy. It is not unnatural that they should use the boycott, even if they punish themselves while they are inflicting punishment on their oppressors; but I am sure they will, in the end, find legislation more satisfactory than abstinence from meat and Join the Democrats in declaring a pri-vate monopoly—not the meat trust join the Democrats in declaring a private monopoly—not the meat trust only, but every private monopoly—indefensible and intolerable.

"But there is another item of news, which has just come to my attention. President Taft, in his Lincoln speech at New York, Feb. 12, attributes the present high prices mainly to the increase in the production of gold and the consequent enlargement of the volume of money. This unexpected indorsement of our party's proposition in 1896, when we demanded more money as the only remedy for falling prices, is very gratifying. How valuable that admission would have been to us if it had been made during the campaign of that year, when all Republican leaders were denying that the volume of money had any influence on prices, and asserting that it did not matter whether we had much money or little, provided it was all good. We may now consider the quantitative power of money established beyond dispute and proceed to the consideration of other questions. But the president and his predecessor have admitted the correctness of the Democratic position on so many questions that further argument is hardly necessary on any subject; we may now take judgment against the many questions that further argument is hardly necessary on any subject; we may now take judgment against the Republican party by confession. "Please present my compliments to the Democrats assembled in memory of the Democrats assembled in memory of the arge of Monticello. I take it for granted that your gathering will not adjourn without the adontion of a resolution urging the ratification by all the states of the income tax amendment to the federal Constitution.

The time is ripe for a return to Jeffersonian principles, and I trust the representatives of our party will make a record which will secure us a majority at the coming congressional election. With this advantage gained, the Democrats will have an opportunity to outcrats will have an opportunity to out-line a program and with a program in harmony with "leffersonian ideas, the Democracy will enter the presidential campaign with promise of success.

VERDICT IN COLONEL COOPER CASE AFFIRMED

Against Slayer of Senator Carmack Gov. Paterson Pardons Him.

Nashville, Tenn., April 13.-The su preme court today affirmed the verdict in the case of the state against Col. D. B. Cooper and his son as to Col. Cooper, but reversed the lower court as to Robin Cooper. Both men had been sentenced by the lower court to serve 29 years for the murder of Senator E. W. Carmack on Nov. 9, 1908.

Today's decision means that Col. Cooper, who is about 65 years old, must serve his sentence of 20 years unless he is pardoned. The case of Robin Cooper is remanded to the lower court and now stands in a position similar to that before he was given the second trial.

An air of suppressed excitement pervaded the court-room and as the reading progressed, signs of nervousness were apparent among the counsel for the Coopers, while Robin and his father frequently bit their lips.

HOW SHOULD DRUNKEN MEN BE CLASSIFIED?

Chicago, April 18.—Is it right to class

Chicago, April 13.—Is it right to class a drunken man as a criminal? Municipal Judge McKenzie Clelland gives an emphatic "No" to the question and has set on foot a movement for the uplift of the drinking man.

Here are some of the recommendations and views he set forth yesterday in a letter to Mayor Busse;

In his letter Judge Clelland writes:
"That every intoxicated man who is merely helpless and not noisy or disturbing the peace be accompanied to his residence by an officer instead of being locked in a police station.
"The purpose of a police department should be to do the most good for the greatest number of persons.
"It will promote a spirit of kindness rather than revenge. To arrest a man for drunkenness only savors of revenge. "For a man to be brought home by an officer will have as great a moral effect as to take him to a police station."

WALSH'S PERSONAL ESTATE

Washington, April 13.—The personal estate of the late Thomas F. Walsh, the mining king, is valued at $3,600,000, according to the petition which the American Security & Trust company, his executor, filed today for the probate of his will. Only the assessed valuation of the real estate is given. This places the realty holdings in Washington at $1,519,279 but a conservative estimate its market value would be about $2.300,000.

Stocks and bonds were held by Mr. Walsh to the extent of $3,200,000, and he had on deposit in local banks, $300,000. His household effects are valued at $50,000 and there are debts due him to the extent of $50,000.

BELIEVE BOYS ARE NOT GUILTY

Startling Developments Promised In the Case of Vandalism at Westminster College.

BEEN GOING ON FOR WEEKS

H. A. and P. G. Lund, Drunk on Drug Store Whisky Entered Premises After Damage Was Done.

Some rather startling developments ire promised in the case of vandalism at the Westminister college one week ago last Monday night. H. A. and P. G. Lund, cousins, who are under arrest on the charge of destroying property at the college, were raigned this morning before Judge Bowman on the specific charge of mailclous mischief. The young men were represented by Atty. Dana T. Smith, who asked until Thursday morning to plead. Their ball was fixed in the sum of $500 each and the bonds will be furnished before night. That the real facts will disclose an entirely different state of affairs than at first reported to the police, is the firm conviction of counsel for the defense and also of at least 20 citizens in the neighborhood. That the vandalism had been going on for weeks and even months is claimed by those who say they know.

It is not denied by the Lund boys that they were in the college building Bowman on the specific charge of

It is not denied by the Lund boys that they were in the college building but they do deny they were there in the night time, and both insist that the most serious damage was done before they entered the building.

G. J. Lund, father of P. G. Lund, and E. H. Lund, father of H. A. Lund, have been making careful investigations on the premises since the arrest of their boys, and E. H. Lund has the names of at least 20 well known residents of the neighborhood who claim that the work of destruction has been going on for many weeks, in been going on for many weeks, in fact ever since the place was used as a storchouse.

Several weeks ago windows were smashed. Bullet holes are plainly in evidence, and the floors were littered with stones and sticks which had been thrown through the windows. Leaves from books and pamphlets are scattered in every direction and some of them are even stuck to the splinters in the rafters. That the damage was all done at one time is plainly a physical impossibility.

LIQUOR FROM DRUG STORE.

It was stated by the police that the Land boys had confessed. The statement is in part true. The boys admit being there on the Monday afternoon, but deny being there at night. Both were at home early in the evening as each was sick as a result of drinking a quantity of wine and whisky mixed. In this connection, a complaint is to be asked for by one of the boys father against the Acme Drug company on Ninth East and Tenth South street where, it is claimed, the boys purchased a bottle of whisky which they mixed with wine.

According to the story told by the boys, they began drinking early in the afternoon and became crazed with the concoction. They do not deny entering the college and admit doing some damage there by tearing up pamphlets, but they declare they did not break the windows and deny having confessed to the police that they committed all of the damage. "The boys were LIQUOR FROM DRUG STORE.

the windows and deny having confessed to the police that they committed all of the damage. "The boys were together that afternoon," said E. H. Lund. "Halvor got the whisky at the drug store, and got it on credit. They mixed it with wine and when they came home between 5 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon they were in a maudlin state. That the damage could have been done in a day is absurd in the extreme. It simply could not have been done, and we have positive proof that neither of the boys were out of their home on that night. That the property was wontonly destroyed we do not for a moment doubt, but it had geen going on for a long time. We are not trying to shield our boys from any part they may have taken in the affair but, in view of the evident facts, it does not seem right to lay all the blame upon them."

Her Daughter Laughed and Joked With Her Husband, Accused of Father's Murder, While Mother Sobbed.

Kansas City, April 18.-After sitting, with fixed countenance and apparent nconcern for two days in the courtcom, Mrs. Logan O. Swope gave way o her emotions and wept bitterly as she talked with newspapermen soon after the trial of Dr. B. C. Hyde opened Recalling her home when Col. Thom s H. Swope was allye and no serious factional strife was apparent in the Swope family, the gray-haired woman contrasted it with the present lonely

"The old home is no longer the place that it was in the days when Col Swope and Miss Hunton were slive, she said. "Those were happy times. There was life and happiness in the old Independence homestead then, But now the rooms seem cold and bare since my beloved friends have gone

"I am not in this courtroom by holce. My presence here is due only to a desire to see that justice is done and the guilty is convicted. It is not a pleasure to sit here and undergo this ordeal. But it is my duty and I will suffer much to perform it properly.

While Mrs. Swope talked, her daughter, Mrs. Hyde, sat a few feet away ter, Mrs. Hyde, sat a few feet away laughing and joking with her husband. She did not know her mother was crying for she could not see her.

In the midst of her tears, Mrs. Swope stopped speaking for a moment and silently regarded the defendant and his wife. It brought back to her mind the days of their courtship. Sobbing violently, she began to tell of the time when Dr. Hyde came into her family circle. She spoke a few words on this phase of the case and then supported by the arm of her attorney, she arose and left the courtroom.

INSURGENT VENIREMEN. The cause of the insurgent veniremen in the Hyde murder trial, who yesterday questioned the constitutional right of Judge Raiph S. Latshaw to remand them to the custody of the marshal until a jury is obtained, and were released, was lost today. The court announced that its reason for granting them their release last night was on account of the small number of talesmen present and not because of any question as to its legal right to hold them.

"All veniremen will be in charge of the county marshal from this time until finally excused." said the judge, Although Dr. Hyde is still as affable and smiling as he was when the trial opened, he expresses discomfiture today at the slowness with which jurors are being obtained.

"I hope this is the last day of questioning veniremen," he said. "I want to loning veniremen," he said. "I want to et through with the trial as soon as today adopted a new plan of examining veniremen.

Each man was called separately into the jury room and interrogated. Heretofore the unexamined veniremen have been permitted to hear the questioning of all prospective jurors. Attorneys believe the answers tended to influence the opinions of other veniremen. One hundred and fifty new veniremen were subpoensed yesterday and the greater number of them were present today for service. Prosecutor Virgil Conkling hopes that it will not be necessary to call any more men for examination.

"Under the new plan of interrogation I believe we shall soon fill out the panel of the temporary jury," he said. It probably will be 24 hours after the jury of 47 is chosen before the final 12 men who will try the case are agreed upon. There will be no further examination in the court but the attorneys will make their selections in private. The state must first exercisa its 15 peremptory challenges. From the list of 32 tentative jurymen the defense will strike off 20. The remaining 12 will compose the jury.
